And you ask me how. . . ?

In the struggle of analysis, in the eternal dialogue of explanation, does the how of anything lie in the mechanics of its operation?

If I tell you that between two canine legends lies the beginning life of the college, and that this life unfolds in an expansive architectural pattern of yellow brick, I have not answered how.

For the answer will be blurred with verbs and images of action . . . with seven nations and a century and a quarter of being.

How?—

demanding replies of tempera brilliance until you are satisfied and shift the emphasis to . . .

Why?

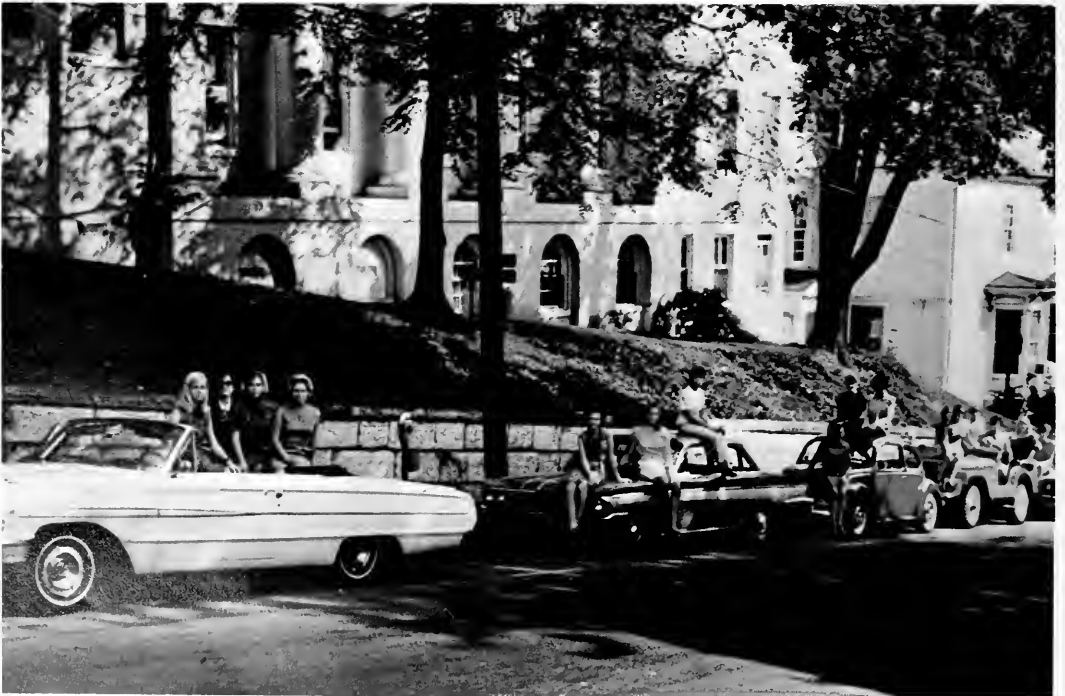

For what reason? For what purpose?

Within this world, this pleasantly-frenzied hillside community of women, we live and work four years before the Artis Bachelaris is conferred. And "senior" means a great deal more than cars or even independent study; for every year has flung the horizons a little wider.

Perhaps you have seen purple mountains and a blue sky. But have you listened to the mountains? Have you seen the colors of academia spilling over life? The question why grants a rare privilege: the opportunity to justify a gift of love and dedication.

Why?—

To learn to look beyond the valley in the hope of someday seeing what lies beyond the stars . . .

MODERN DANCE

Because.

In the beginning, because of Time and Words and the flavor of fresh notebooks and clean pages, because of intellectual thought and challenge, we blend our individuality into the collective college-color with a fine sable brush.

And at the end, with the colors of each individual deepened and the shades of character, integrity, and maturity sharply etched, we go to the elsewhere . . . because it is all over and only beginning.

It is the beautiful paradox that explains the why of because.

And, of course, there are the freaky days, the ones you put down in your freaky book, when the world of the intellect is not so very inviting—the alone moments when causal relationships for the filigree of life are simply frustrating . . . I have acute attacks of withdrawal then. So do you—I've watched you. And I dare not ask you why, even if the sky stays blue.

So to merge the drug rule and rock 'n roll into a therapeutic kaleidoscope in cinemascope and technicalolor, we march down and around to town.

"Flic—girls." It's only Thursday. And there will be more enamelled leaves spattered on the hillside tomorrow.

You knew when a Volkswagon pulled up in front of Hunt, and everybody started screaming that tomorrow was the Day.

It's a day called 'X' that slips into October unaware.

It's Apple Day—traditional pride of the sophomores—full of fall tang, crisp apples, candied apples, and apple cider; full of second year enthusiasm and innovation (a baby elephant in a sweatsuit?)—even if it has rained two years in a row now. (The eclipse of the moon got rained out too.) And this year, there were apples!

Ah yes, how is the pressure of life relieved?
By Apple Day.
And why is it Never On Tuesday or Thursday?
Because.

Streaks of colored oil on a dappled canvas and watercolor petals on a flowered face . . . Ars est celore artem. Why is it true art to conceal art? Who can tell the palette-splash from the chef d'oeuvre? The true artiste . . .

Lines, lights, patterns, portraits—a mobile workshop in collage—with the inner soul before you on an easel in the bright-white-hot-pure sun.

The Drama Workshop . . . chaos, confusion spun with creativity. All dwell within. Stage sets . . . proscenium, thrust, or in the round? Make-up, made-up . . . it's a mad mad mad world . . . surrealistic, naturalistic, or dead—well, what'll it be?

It's always locked when you need it most. Then we stage a realistic scurry to find the key.

Costumes . . . everything from Medea to Willy Loman and waltzing toreadors somewhere in between.

Balsa, plywood two to twenty ply, styrafoam, plaster of paris and even a Plastered Paris . . . all dwell within, Holding Court . . . the subjects, a hanging menagerie.

NO SMOKING PLEASE!

Rhythmical monotony of exercise converted to a motion of Beauty through will-power and control.

Learn to make the muscles obey, to yield to the demands of rigorous positions in the interest of Grace and Fluidity.

Suffer . . . pain . . . for expression, for emotion, for the meaningful movement which is dance.

Is it worth it? you ask.

Yes.

The Chamber Ensemble—ensemble assembled with fingers arranged just-so on strings . . . Lips taste reeds and old saliva while eyes grasp meaning from the paper notes.

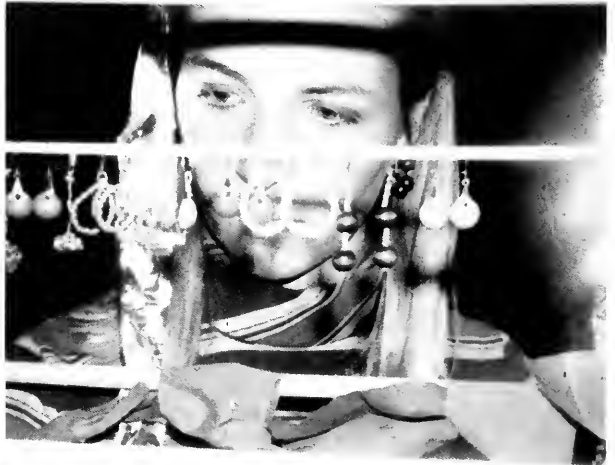

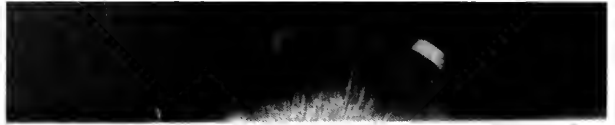

Slowly, painstakingly, a group together feels each sound as it is born—experiences music.

And it is there and is gone, leaving the players free to begin again.

How to raise funds for a Science Center in Five Jiffy Steps:

1. Motivate the Class of 1967.
2. Get Van Lear Logan to play the White Rabbit.
3. Make 20,000 pairs of earrings, 5000 cup cakes, other assorted goodies.
4. Find an SGA project chairman as motivated as Jean Schaub.
5. Call efforts the White Rabbit Bizarre and Freak Out.

The Christmas Bazaar was a great success. The girls, the boys, the flowers, Christmas cards, kissing ball, leather balls, cotton candy. A splendid time was had by almost all.

Fiorello!—good choice for a political year. "Politics and Poker became more popular than bridge with the Sophomores.

Accents twisted into variations of New York . . . the East River skyline on canvas . . . a few collapsible platforms . . . a five foot two blonde as the Italian LaGuardia . . . and a director who moved like a pro.

All right, do it again ... and again ... and again. March I we open. Please put the final consonants on your words. Stay in character and shut the hell up. The voice of authority.

Emily's Organization. . .

"Buddy can you spare a dime. . .

"Just what does Mr. Page think?"

Down with Tammany Hall—cigar smoking, machine-busting, the Twenties, and all that glitters.

"Live and Let Live."

Drawing the class together in panic, passion, and pride.

The Recreation Association, better known as the R.A. is somewhat vaporous in nature and function . . . sis boom bah. One hears vague rumblings about Horse Shows and badminton tournaments . . . all a part of organized clan activities. Freshman Stunt night is now a tradition, though it didn't go over with too much enthusiasm with the upper classmen this year.

It has a definite place on campus . . . King. So does the sponsor.

STUDENT ACTIVITIES COMMITTEE

This year the Student Activities Committee, newly organized amalgamation of former campus activity organizations, did Three Memorable Things. They sponsored the Spizzwinks and Sons of Bacchus from Yale; they sponsored a bus to U. Va. for Midwinters at a nominal fee; and they held a china survey. They also had a "Game Night" only that cannot be included in the "memorable" since only five people came.

SOCIAL COMMITTEE

Thank heaven for little girls. . . who are willing to go into the tough business of entertainment booking and fight like the proverbial striped cat. This year, thanks to a lot of Tigers, MBC was treated to the likes of Chuck Jackson, The Platters, Glenn Yarbrough, The Swinging Medallions, and The Showmen. What's more, they all showed. What more can be said?

The Christian Association brought a lot of things to the campus . . . and it sent a lot off the campus too—like books to Viet Nam. Their balance of trade was probably as well-balanced as any underdeveloped new nation's might be. On the influx side there was Gertrude Bihanna and William Glenesk (though some might want to shift him to the export side) and many chaplains from many colleges . . . memorably V.I.P. On the outgoing side there was a myriad number of service groups: Effie Ann Johnson and the Day Nurseries, Western State and the Volunteers, not to mention The Play-mates with their swinging hit Operation.

The C.A. was the medium with a message for a change.

The Choir's major contribution to the musical life of the college is their weekly performance in chapel. Unfortunately, this year the student body did not hear as much from them as they might have wished. . . but they were seen. . . every Tuesday and every Thursday and every Tuesday and every Thursday and so on and so on. The high spot was the pre-Christmas concert with Princeton. Maybe that's why the choir practiced four hours a week and didn't sing too frequently in chapel.

A revival to their credit, however: "The Wise and Foolish Maidens" beautifully produced through the joint efforts of Dr. Fletcher Collins and Mr. Gordon Page. . .

Lithe black shadows in a flame-dotted room . . .
candlelight from Fresca and Champagne bottles.

The Improviso, a money-making spontaneous enterprise for the benefit of the dramatic possibilities of the science lecture room, presenting distorted mirror reflections of life—the way Life Socks It To You. . .

"How was your summer?"

"Listening, Sophy. . ."

"Selma, dahling. . ."

And Pirandello aside, the shadows are not in search of characters, much less an author.

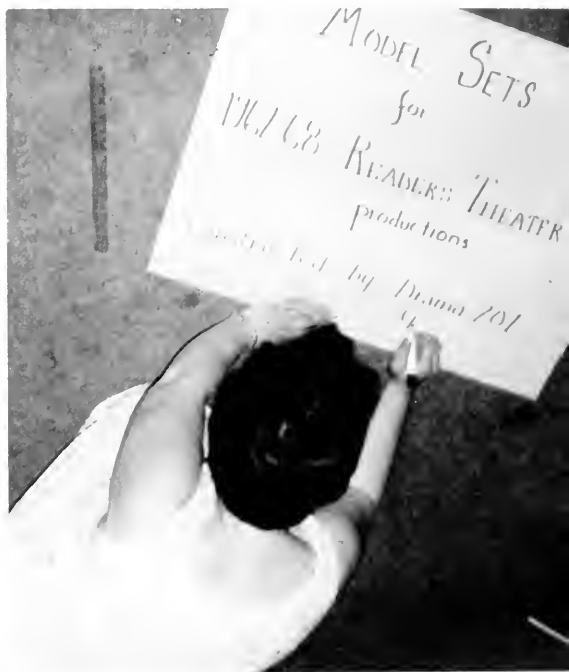

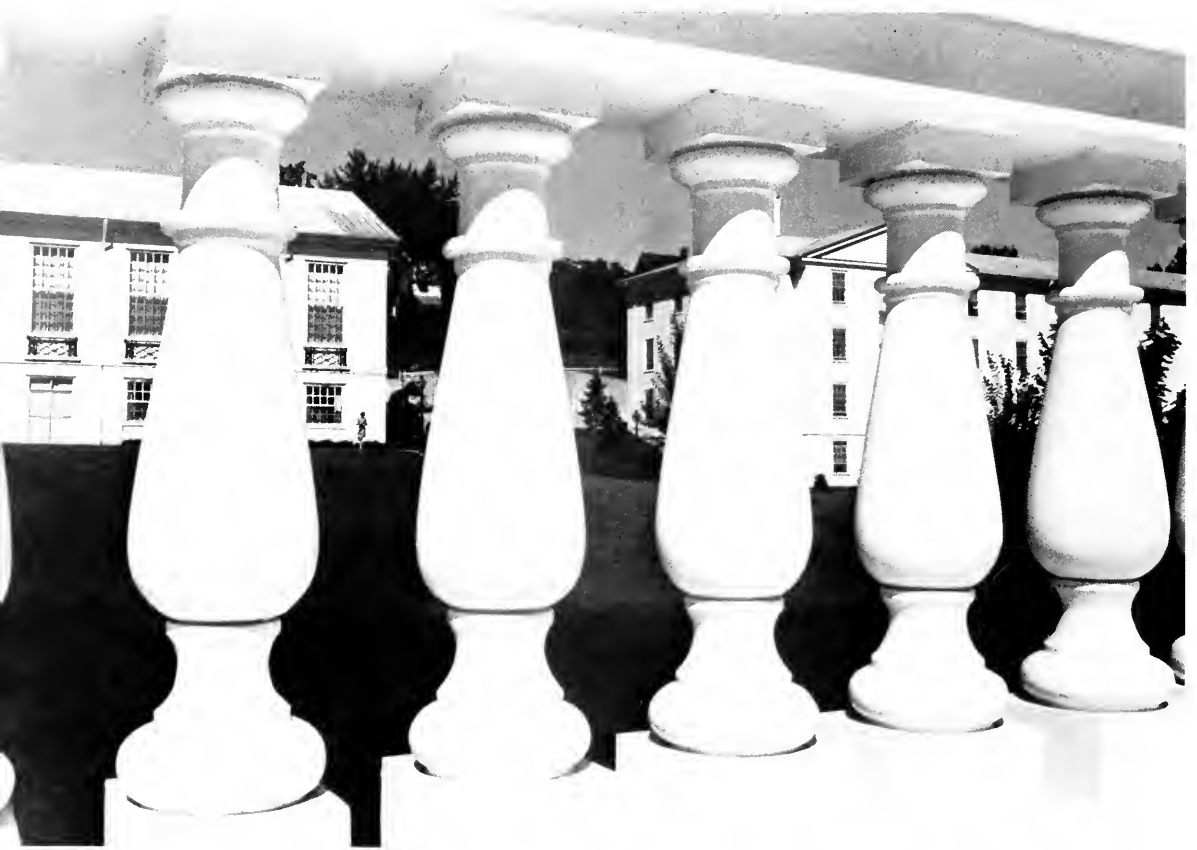

Readers' Theater, for want of a legitimate Hall of Thespis, occurs as an every now and then Wednesday or Thursday after dinner theater experience with a repertoire of Sheridan, Shakespeare, etc.

"Under the charivari and the noise, I find there is nothing," mourns Anouilh's Lady Hurf reading from a giant tome of Modern Drama.

This year's program featured the Troubadors of Washington and Lee in a Tumult, the wonders of which never cease, for it is Timeless in the most abstruse.

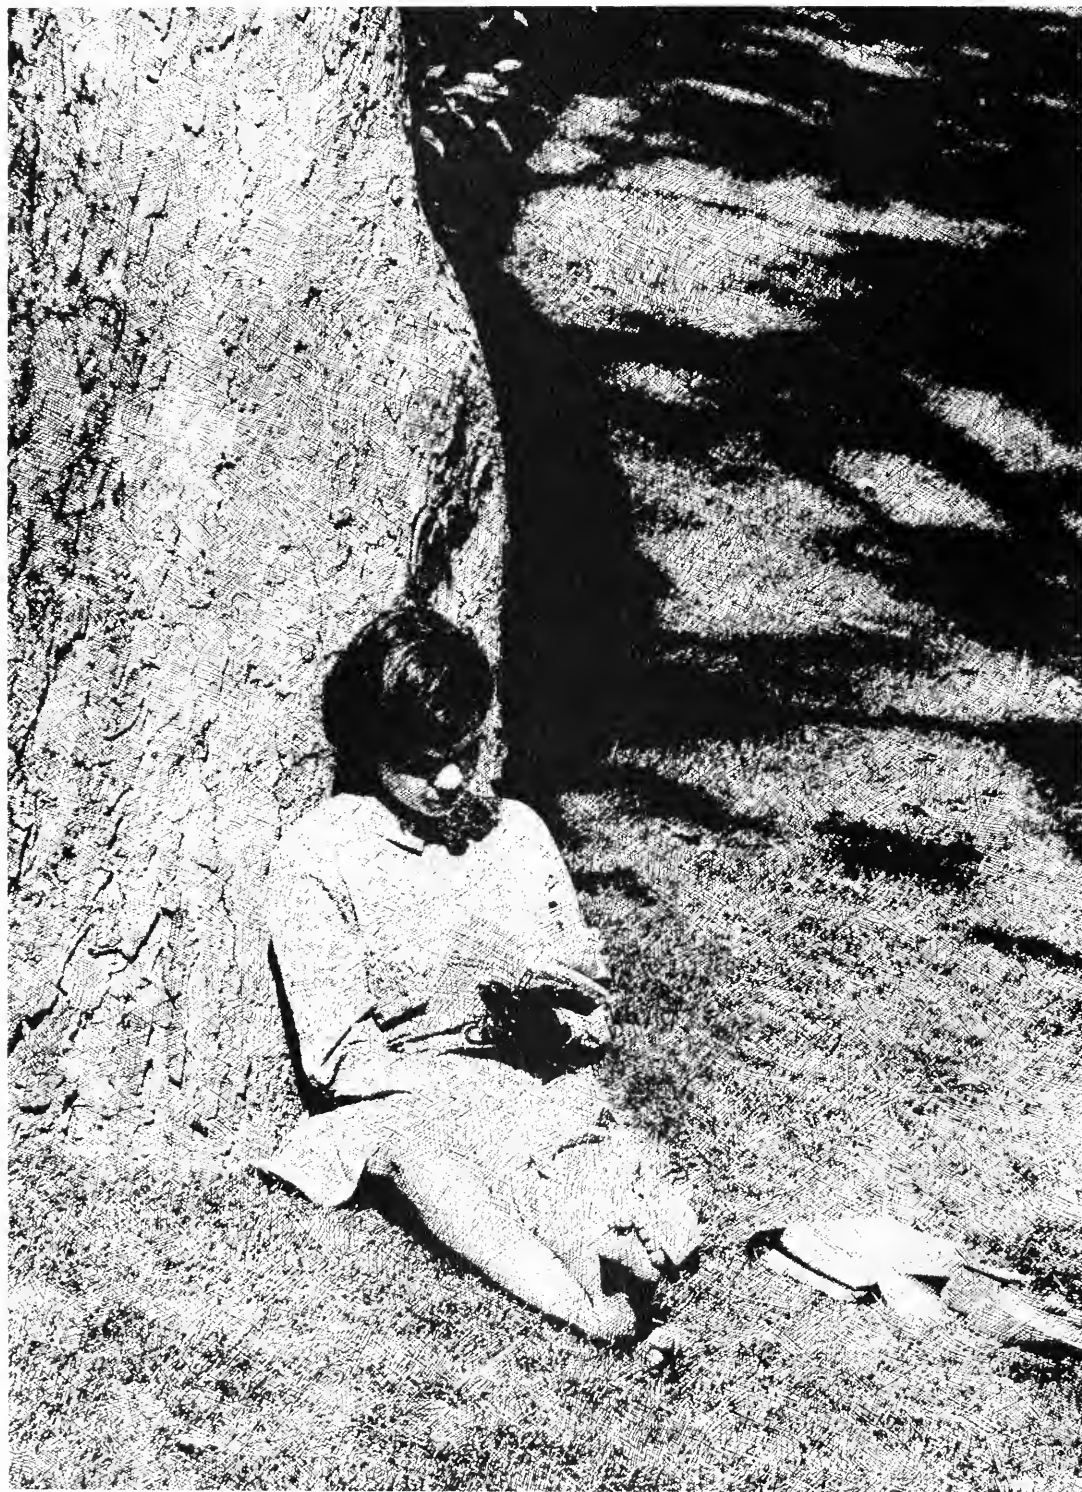

Most of all it looks good from a distance . . .

HOW

What I've been wanting to say—is that Utopia is noplac.
So we pass through our thoughts haping to find—what it's all about. And the wherefore . . .

How? How can we . . . when the chimes of time are already seconds behind the time?

I can think; I can move. I can wonder about potentialities of motion and if motion can be motionless in the extreme.

And I must remember to look within ond without.

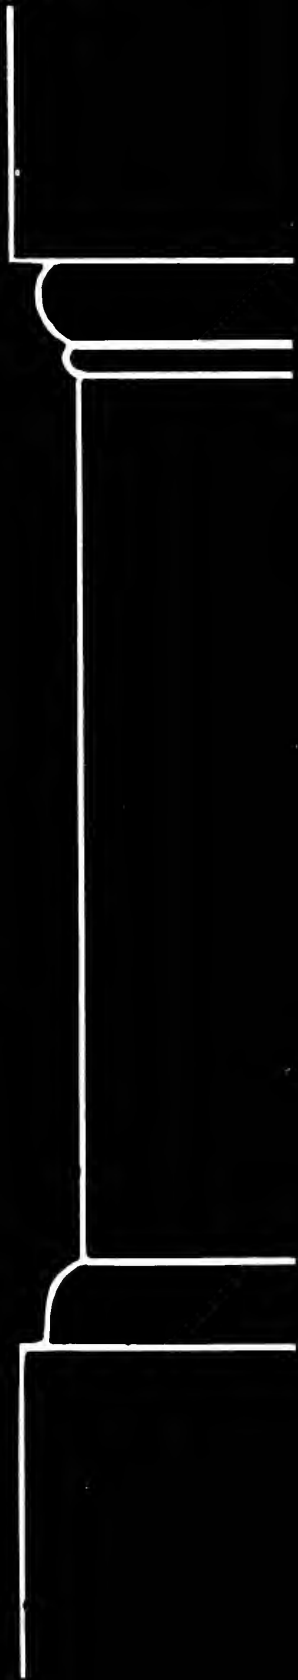

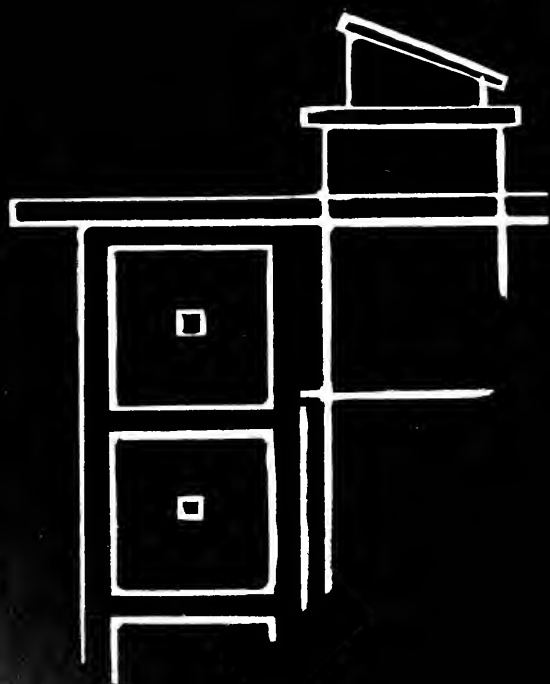

I cannot lose the focus or the perspective. I cannot let time resound unheard within me nor let my forward footsteps dissolve in colloidal nowhere.

How does a challenge challenge me? By urging thoughts . . . expression which moves from mind to typewriter and becomes a creation.

This is not the valley of the dolls. You and I are not out of touch. But—"Look over your rims—don't reflect on your own eyes," you tell me.

Suddenly, I see . . .

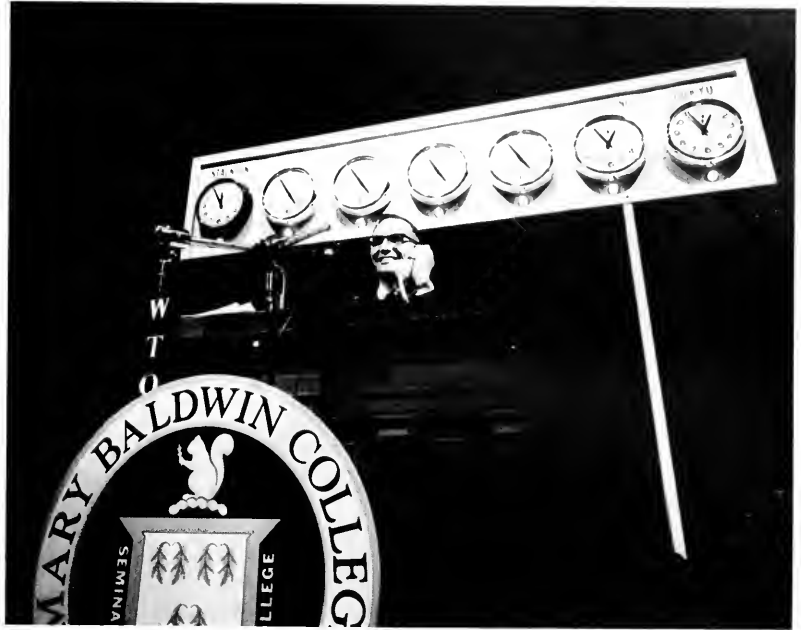

I know that they are a part of the how, because they help in the discovery of why, because they are dedicated to the many functions that make a college live.

STAFF

ENGLISH

Soaring with a Hopkins windhover, fading into the forest dim with Keats' nightingale, lost in Conrad's heart of darkness, ever immersed in the study of literature and language, the English department has an eternal affair with the Word—which was in the beginning—believing, as they do, that even the most archaic language is poetry fossilized.

Dr. Ben Huddleston Smith, Jr.,
Chairman

Dr. Marshall Moore Brice

Dr. James D. Lott

Dr. Mary Alice May, Jr.

Dr. Ethel Mae Smeak

Dr. Joseph M. Garrison, Jr.

RELIGION AND PHILOSOPHY

Reaching into the mind of the why, the eternal struggle for metaphysical and spiritual satisfaction s-t-r-e-t-c-h-e-s the understanding and reaches for reason.

Dr. James Leon McAllister, Jr., Chairman

Dr. Marjorie Bocheler Chambers

Mr. David B. Pederson

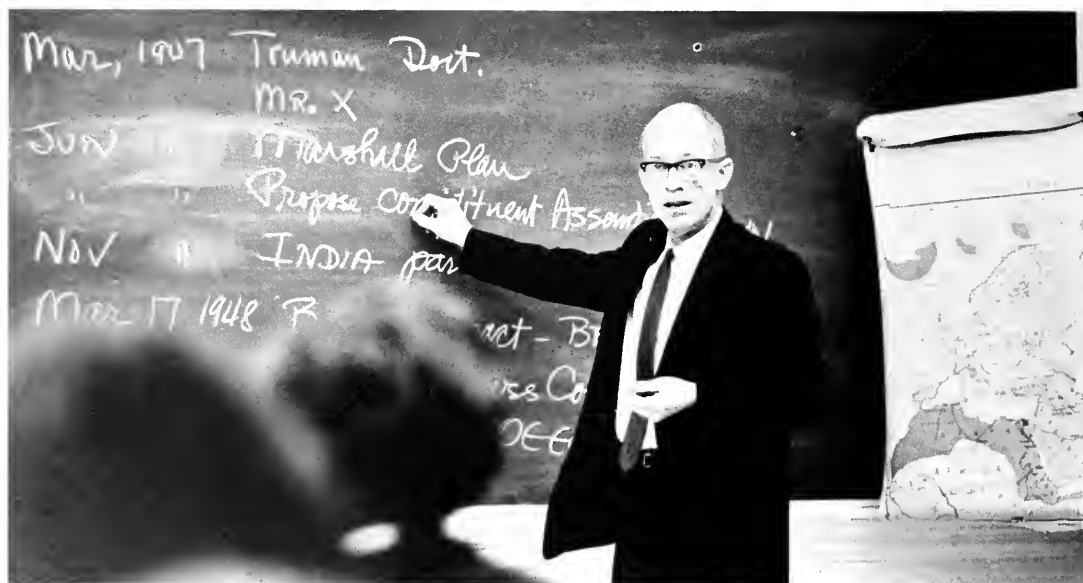

Mr. F. Wellford Hobbie

HISTORY

Eras, epochs, the arbitrary century, wars for women, wars for roses hurling through time-space-human relationships and analogies of event prove history does not repeat. Man does.

Dr. Patricia Holbert Menk,
Chairman

Dr. Charles J. Stanley

Mr. Robert Henry Lafleur

Dr. Duane P. Myers

Dr. Bernard St. Clair Logan
Co-Chairman

ECONOMICS

Export-import and the balance of payments, tight money, inflation, interest rates, the Common Market and devaluation of the pound (which somehow necessitates a surtax) are all hung up in the economic spin against how many dimes I need for my wash.

Miss Lillian Rudeseal
Co-Chairman

Dr. Thomas Hancock Grafton
Chairman

SOCIOLOGY

Navajo Indians dance from one corner of the room to the other, leaving behind them a trail
of customs.

Mankind snared in connective patterns. . . . Crime is apparent, yet obviously not accepted. People will differ every minute—in every place.

Your group is the center of the ever-turning wheel . . .
the study of the data—and more—reflecting life . . . collectively.

Mary de Munecas

Dr. O. Ashton Trice
Chairman

Mr. Donald D. Thompson
Mr. Jerry R. Venn

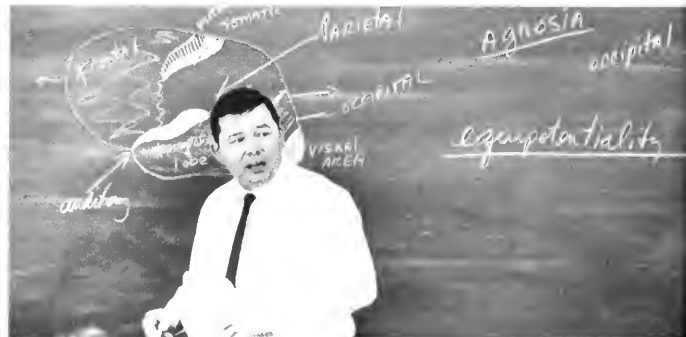

PSYCHOLOGY

A conditioned response to stimulation. "What is MEANING?" beg potential psychologists. "Only a neural CLICK?"

Rats, securely tucked in their Skinner boxes, develop neuroses anyway.

Students seek self-concepts, while depending on the Teddy Bear for reinforcement.

Gradually, case histories merge with learning theories. Computers with individuals. In seeking to understand others, students discover self.

Dr. Herbert Lee Bridges, Jr.
Chairman

EDUCATION

Here is the realm of the audio-visual teaching aids and teaching methods. How to challenge, instruct, that is, teach. The method handbook for training minds. . .

How to deal with the PTA and the parents themselves when they get rough. . .How to adjust the patterns of education to fit the individual and still leave room for expressive expansion.

FINE ARTS

Dramatic tension poured into a musical sieve abstractly drybrushed onto a pale pink canvas—the interweaving of the arts.

The sound of color and the tone and hue of comedy and tragedy are urged to their mélange by wise and foolish maidens who believe that Cézanne, Chopin, and Shaw would have made a great triumvirate.

Dr. Robert L. Gates
Chairman

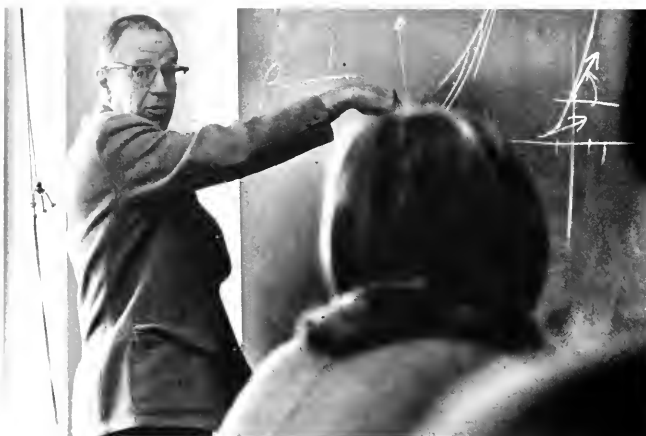

THE GEORGE HAMMOND SULLIVAN DEPARTMENT OF POLITICAL SCIENCE

Discovering the inner working of the earth's crust carved into nations, undergraduate political scientists set out to sample governmental-theoretical blood and translate News-week and the Huntley-Brinkley Report into what-it's-all-about-in-Viet-Nam.

Investigation of Franco-phobia, Anglo-philia, alliances, and reapportionment, evaluation of the Sino-Soviet split and the implications for democracy mesh with the closer-to-home thought that this year we elect a new President.

Dr. Mildred E. Taylor
Chairman

Mr. William Jackson Galbraith

Mr. Alfred L. Booth

MATHEMATICS

A mere tool science? A philosophy? Abstract thought. . . Progressive circles build outward from $1-1=2$, or does it? The answers to befuddled "Whys" are repeated . . . and repeated . . . the difficulty in teaching an impatient mind to sift—slowly. Seniors struggle to recall things only five years stale—the Bible . . . by Thomas . . . or is it Calculus by Thomas?

Truth flickers, is grasped, lost, to be struggled for again. Busywork transforms itself to soaring revelation. . . at 8:30 A.M. and for evermore.

Dr. Frances Jacob
Chairman

Dr. Barbara F. Ely

Dr. Kurt Kehr

MODERN LANGUAGES

Rules and things . . . How much more simple if Henry Higgins' universal alphabet and language had been successful.

But what would we do without Sancho and windmills in psychological Spanish, the French theatrical marvels from Moliere to Ionesco and the romantic epitome of Goethe and Schiller and the surreal experience of Kafka.

BIOLOGY

The Great Snowy Owl regards benevolently the dissection of frogs. Anatomical knowledge, genetics (which pea plant will grow taller?), ornithology (Is that a Robin or a Ruffed Grouse?), twist into a science of life. And beautiful brittle leaves and bird calls relieve the scientific seriousness.

CHEMISTRY AND PHYSICS

Thermodynamics, moles, beakers and test tubes are a part of the endless lab hours which are a part of the quantitative and qualitative analysis of scientific theory and hypothesis. Stray terms—molecules, fluorides, fission, and foot-pounds—emphasize to comprehended principles in the lecture.

ORGANIZATIONS and HONORARIES

Alternate odd Tuesday evenings (or is it even?), Student Board (or is it bored?) meets to discuss and legislate. Major topics for the session—drugs, percolators, and Cinderella hours for seniors every night of the week as well as unapproved housing in C-ville and Lexington.

The great drug debates . . . the DVB, the VASG, SRG and the rap, rap, rap of her metaphorical gavel. These are the powers that be on the campus . . . elected by the campus . . . for the campus. With a cool analytic approach to any problem and reinforced by the knowledge that the Constitution is behind them (with a majority student vote as of November), the Board hacked away at the out-dated and constructed the new.

Dear Mother,

Remember what an orderly person I used to be? Finicky if the least thing got out of place? Well, my new roommate, who is a really groovy kid, has convinced me that I will never reach any spiritual heights if I live in such a regulated world.

We blew our minds Saturday night and painted the walls of our room a pale purple. So don't worry about that bill for 25 dollars on account of the nails, because we painted over them . . .

THE RESIDENCE HALLS

La Dolce Vita without vino. . . leaf-framed on a warm night (Ah, if only he had worn his executive length hose.). . . always watching, always waiting for something to happen, for something to begin inside. . .

...and outside. . . Four Musketeers sans swords in the bullrushes around Spencer wait for female response or the nightie's reproach.

Everybody ought to have a birthday, I think. My last one was cancelled. . .

Spencer I and Ground

Flower Power mode . . . the painting over the piano . . . One junior . . . the three J's . . . phone duty twice a month . . . piano-playing at one a.m. . . . boys in the lounge! . . . sophs and frosh all on one side . . . Honor Court Chairmen right down the hall.

Spencer II

Our lounge is—a sounding board for CC editorials,

a preliminary and encore audience for the Coffee House, and the scene of the Bluestocking crises.

We faked a fire-drill and the freshmen found their shoes in the elevator and attic. We have soooo many SGA officers . . .
that the rest of the floor has extra phone duty.

We have two W&L Homecoming representatives and one Freshman Miscellany winner.

Then there are the unforgettable road trips—Poor Penny . . .
how was New Orleans? Only got to D.C.?

It's a love struck hall . . . with the president pinned and the director snowed.

Our Halloween party attracted the attention of the police department. And, tell me, what other dorm collected five hundred liquor bottles for the SGA project?

What other dorm can boast those Macke machine rivals, Ginny and Jean, selling sandwiches in a wild burst of fiscal prudence?

And on a clear day you can see forever from the sun-porch, if you can step over the bodies

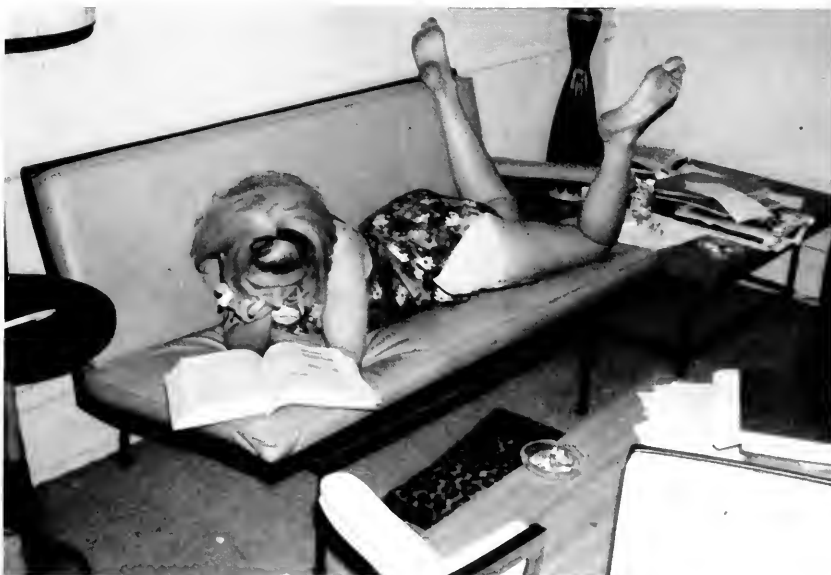

Spencer III

Sometimes it gets pretty hairy—exam time—women's college cliché containing dirty hair, wheat jeans, and weight gain in one tidy package.

The new schedule-your-own-exam system helped alleviate pressure. But dorm life in tension, though, is often trial and error.

Woodson II

Constant traumas and quiet hour—sometimes . . . Top dancing in the halls between phone halts . . . Mass productions: frosted hair and hemming sessions (you don't want to look like a GRANDMOTHER, do you?) . . . New York over T'giving and now we're cosmopolitan, and have you ever heard of Jellystone? Hell, yeah, Bubbo. Let's talk about Europe some more: no speeka de language. So is there ever anyone on the hall on the weekends? (Not as long as there are law students and Phi Delts!) Bouncing on the floor 'til the kitchen fixtures shake. Are you going to Yale again? Do they say W&L or Vermont? Snoopy's watching you.

Woodson III

The Christmas Bazaar—terry cloth shifts, hostess skirts, and stuffed animals.

Sunday morning breakfast for a quarter . . . thanks to the new S&H green stamp percolator.

Then, of course, we must stock the kitchen with utensils and food and show off the dorm to various members of the faculty.

And an Easter Egg Hunt may raise the Science building . . .

Woodson IV

The hall with the constant supply of Otis Redding and Wilson Pickett sounds . . . with faculty children on Halloween, Tam Turkey on Thanksgiving, and a littlest angel for Christmas.

A shower for Woodson kitchen, road trips to Connecticut, and pink rabbits that don't talk.

But we have a beautiful view.

Edmundson House

Haven for lost protest buttons—
also lost protestors.

Champagne and peanut butter sandwiches—side order of grits.

"Will Russ really marry Rachel?"

Faculty answering service—with no answers.

"Don't look at the house; just look at the bathroom."

Next year: Partir—c'est mourir un peu.

"212"

"The sky's falling down! . . . or is it only the ceiling again?"
"Is it me . . . or is that floor really at a 45 degree angle?"
Spaghetti dinners . . . the quietude in GETTING AWAY to
"212" . . . The struggle to emerge the next morning . . . Nine in a house makes a mighty good home. "But I love those dead bushes in front of the fireplace."

"215"

Why is the lone junior the only one pinned? I tried to be seniors? Now—just lounge lizards. Pseudo-nerds. "The stove is on fire." The exodus of Saturday night—a giant phone bill and an abundant supply of orange juice. Zit cream and rollers on a date? ... the jungle-tangle of labyrinths after rain. Clatter and chatter—congenial personalities and similar maladies.

Blakely House

"Hello, Blakely bathroom . . ." Out through the window he flew like a flash . . . who? the PAPER BOY? . . . Droggin waggin flies by at 7:20 a.m. . . . worry beads . . . "will YOU talk to me for three minutes . . ." forty-one dozen cookies baked in Miss Parker's kitchen for the Christmas Bazaar.

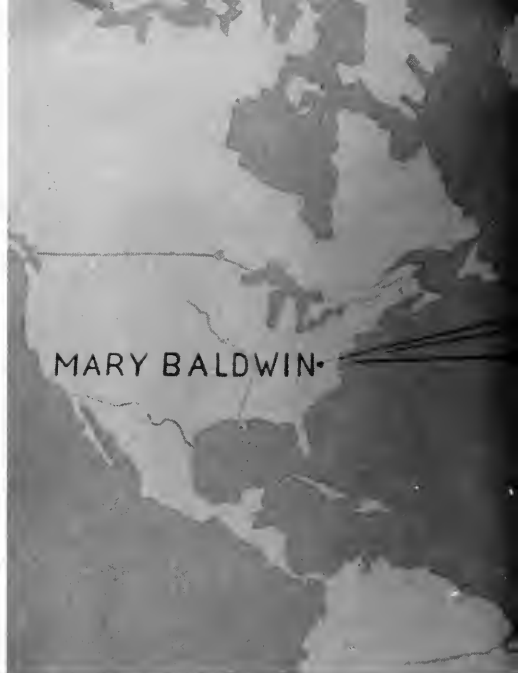

Day Students

Being a day student is leaving at eight for an eight-thirty class getting help from a brother—or son—with a philosophy paper

having a Bake Sale for the Science Center and being the first one home for the holidays.

Day students: row one, left to right: Mrs. Caroline Schooley, Linda Hite; row two, left to right: Pat Elmore, Mary Beth Fowler, Jo Ann Chase.

Communications break down in those first exciting days; one undergoes the agony of having the taxi-cab driver speak to you in English.

From the instamatic tourist pours a 126 size film impression of experience.

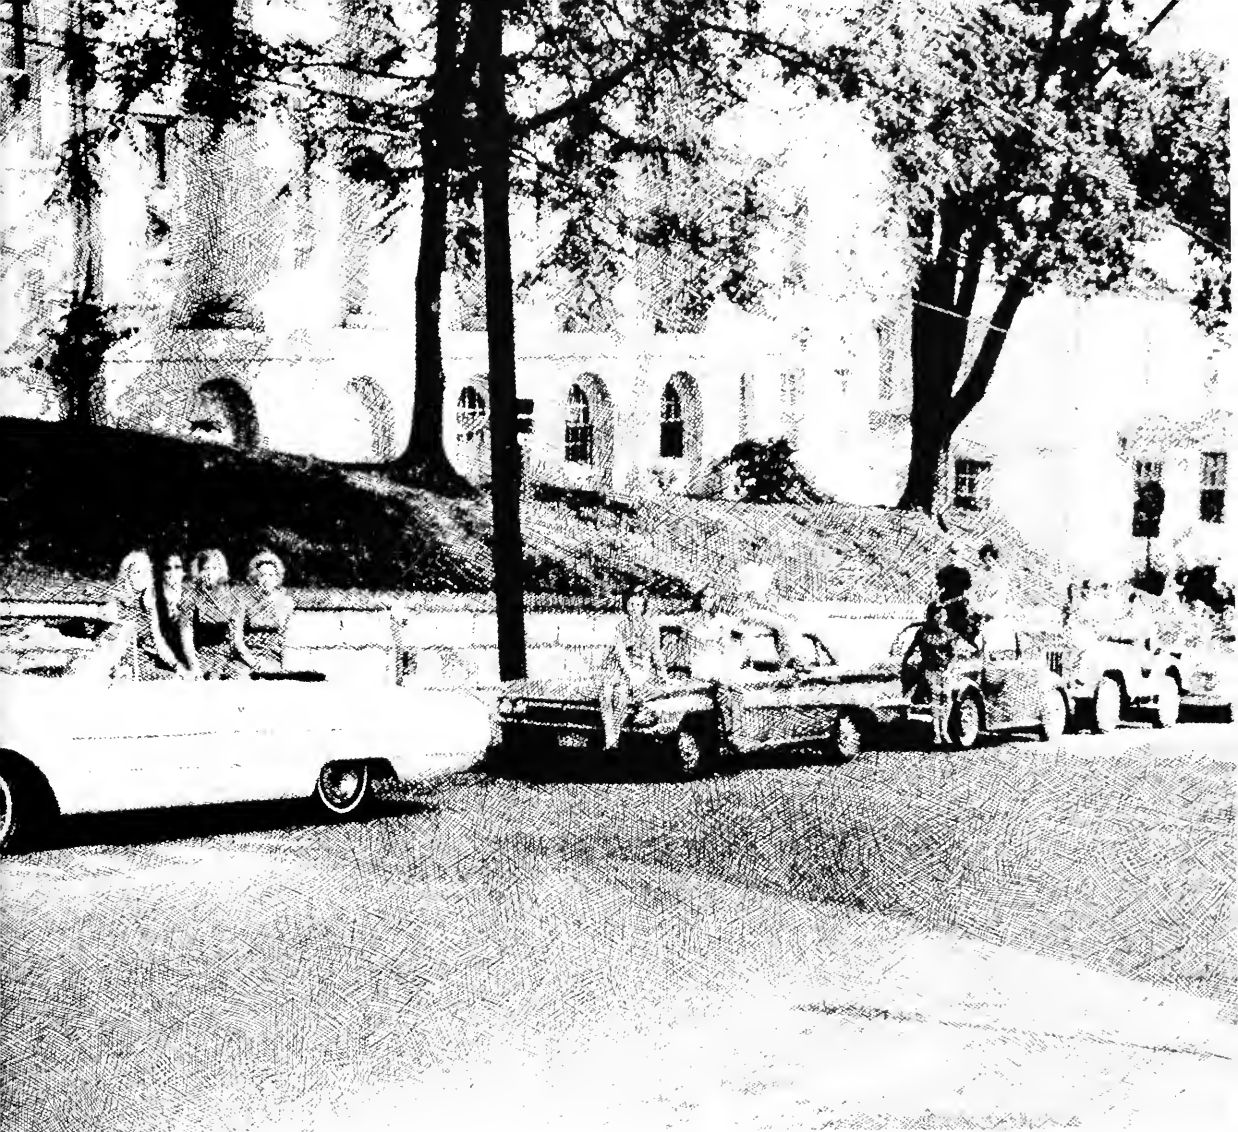

The colors of the Cathedral at Chartres and sunset at Granada become the vivid basis for memories of a wonderful year exchanging customs and colloquialisms, while strengthening the olive branches of educational diplomacy.

In Madrid: Sally Alfriend, Ann Ashley, Barbara Atwood, Claire Briscoe, Linda Daw, Christine Grant, Alice Haddrell, Susan Leam, Jane McCandless, Ann McGeorge, Martha Nangeroni, Corrie Smith, Holly Thompson. In England: Mary Lynn Martin; Germany: Armi Hodges; Denmark (second semester): Mary Jane Wirtz. In Paris: Marcy Carrera, Judy Christian, Elizabeth Lamar, Margaret Richie. In Nantes: Jane Collis, Anne Goshorn, Emily McGay, Sandy McLeod, Susan Swafford.

BECAUSE

Because of Time and Words. . . and Waiting For Godot. . .

Because rain is rarely yellow and the sun cannot shine backwards. . .

Because you and I must—we all must—learn to swim in an aquarium of ideas, we go on, and then one morning—in convocation, Club, or class: "Look! We have come through."

Because of the enthusiasm that colors everything she touches. . .
Because of her vital interest in the community, in the college, and in students as individuals. . .
Because of her deep dedication to the intellectual ideals of her profession—

The Senior Class dedicates the 1968 Bluestocking to:

Dr. Patricia Holbert Menk.

THE FACULTY SHOW

Another Science Center benefit featured Tunis of Tunisia et al. in the once-a-quadrennium faculty spoof of anything at all.

"We hated the thought of doing them and we hated getting ready for them, but as soon as we got on stage we really had a good time". . . so did the student body which turned out en masse to watch the fun and games when the Ph.d's let down their hair.

Was that really Dr. Mehner?

Construction through the verbs of action is what they urged. . . on panel discussions and over coffee in the extra-classroom campus. This is the age of language, of the desire for communication. The O.E.D. takes a new lease on life.

Father David Bowman (above), Jacqueline Grennan (right), and Dr. Richard Schechner (below), were among campus lecturers this year representing different strands on the thought loom ever weaving a tighter mesh.

Forgetting the theory and the rational reason why, I can feel the emotional pull of because. . .

Swings and bright air around an opalescent cloud. . .Caring what happens to children and to roommates, even when the philosophy paper is due the next day. . .

High fashion apparently inspires strange behavior. Although perhaps if one is really up tight and wants to relieve hostility, a feasible, if perhaps extravagant, way of doing so is climbing atop the Hunt conference table and pouring tea on someone's head. Excellent psychological outlet. . .

Watchful eyes over ruffles and miniskirts are caught before a mirror without a reflection.

A checkerboard pattern—a square parody of yang and yin—is also a laughter board, despite the obvious comparisons with a game of chess. Fallen chesswomen rooked into struggling with angles and geometric patterns. . . in the non-satiric sense.

Stop in the name of love. ♫

The state began to fizz with the far-off soda-sound of the political carousel back in the fall. Washington and Lee sported the Big Name Roster—Goldwater, Nixon, Thurmond. . .and Althizer—no, the wrong campaign there.

And so, besides the News Review of the Week by the Public Affairs Forum, campus commitment took the on campaign-convention proportions. Under the leadership of Betty Jolley and Van Lear Logan, we mock-convened Republican. Even had an official handy—Barbara Simmons, Vice-Chairman of the College Republican Federation of Virginia.

Because of laughter and Coca-Cola bottles, Surrealistic Pillows and various types of guitars and flowers, because of light and expression, I find that dust no longer annoys me—it is merely the frost of neglect. And people are beautiful in ones, twos, and threes.

Tomatoes are beautiful, too. And sometimes in really benevolent moods—most often on even-numbered Thursdays—I grow half-fond of Scotch Woodcock.

There is a great deal to be happy about that I often forget.

The Martha Stackhouse Grafton library finally got dedicated on April 19. Assisting the administration in the operation were Dr. Victor L. Butterfield, president emeritus of Wesleyan University and Governor Hulett C. Smith of West Virginia.

The leaks in the roof did not dampen the occasion at all.

SCIENCE CENTER
NORTH ELEVATION

MARY BALDWIN COLLEGE

Bailey's face lift and the new Science Center took on slightly less amorphous qualities in the minds of students when the architects' drawings appeared in Hunt. The object of every financial benefit on campus evoked emotions from the student body ranging from hysterical joy to paranoid-withdrawal (probably a Drama major).

I think I'll have to polish up the sky and scrub the wind and whitewash all the clouds. And today I think I'll ask you what you think about it all.

We can paint raspberry watercolors if you like, or discuss the long hot summer of racial interaction that the experts are predicting.

We can read the Times and Time and listen to clocks ticking among the leaves in the key of strange. . . as the century pounds out its second half.

The Clothes Closet

Social break from a cluttered morning squeeze into a small lunch swept onto the table by a tray-bearing Eta Beta. On off days (that is, Cheese Betty, never, etc.), there is always the Snack Bar featuring fried egg sandwiches and chili dogs.

But there are never off days from study, from book-cluttered desks from microscopes and efforts at discovery.

Therefore—

What I've been wanting to say is—that ultimately the steps lead up. . .

But, then again, direction is impressionistic—a variable dependent on the color of the air and sun and shadow. Evenings come endlessly—purpling home from nowhere, keeping the night's true identity secret. And direction is difficult in darkness. So—

Patterns are the key—everywhere squares and circles, circles and squares with sunlight swimming in a window pane—trying to weave order from a how, why, because world where there are no doors—only ways in and ways out.

Charlotte Hoffman, editor
